The Faculty of Law continuously supports economically disadvantaged students to complete their studies by providing facilities for its undergraduate students enrolled in regular programs. Below are the facilities provided from the faculty:

1. Biaya Operasional Pendidikan Berkeadilan (BOPB) or Fair Education Operational Cost. It's an implementation of Single Tuition Fee at the Universitas Indonesia that allows students to pay tuition fees according to their parents, guardians, or education cost bearers' economic capabilities. Newly enrolled students who got accepted through SNMPTN, SBMPTN, and SIMAK selection process can apply for BOPB by submitting documents including personal data and a statement of their economic capabilities. All submissions will be reviewed and verified by the university's administrative team to determine students' final tuition fee. In 2021, there were 951 students in the Faculty of Law who received BOPB.

2. Biaya Pendidikan Mahasiswa Miskin Berprestasi (Bidikmisi) or Education Cost for Economically Disadvantaged Students with Achievements. It's a financial aid from the Indonesian government for economically disadvantaged high school graduates or equivalent who have good academic potential. In 2021, there were a total of 52 students in the Faculty of Law from Class of 2017 until Class of 2020 who received Bidikmisi.

3. Kartu Indonesia Pelajar Kuliah (KIP Kuliah) or Indonesian Card for College Students. It's a financial aid from the Indonesian Ministry of Education, Culture, Research, and Technology for students whose family enrolled in Program Keluarga Harapan (PKH) or owned Kartu Keluarga Sejahtera (KKS) to help them complete their higher education. In 2021, there were 5 students in the Faculty of Law who received KIP Kuliah.

5. During the COVID-19 pandemic situation that has a tremendous impact on the economic conditions, the Indonesian government has issued a relaxation policy for Single Tuition Fee payment for public university's students. The Indonesian government has also allocated tuition fee assistance at a maximum cost of IDR2,400,000 through the Kartu Indonesia Pelajar Kuliah (KIP Kuliah) program. In 2021, there are 5 students in the Faculty of Law who received tuition fee assistance.
