

SDG 5

5.3 : Student access measures

5.3.1: Women's access schemes

The Indonesia International Student Mobility Award (IISMA) scholarship program organized by the University of Indonesia (UI) Vocational Program is a continuation of the Ministry of Education, Culture, Research and Technology's program to improve access to education for women. This program provides an opportunity for students to study at a foreign university for one semester, while receiving a full scholarship that covers tuition fees, living expenses, transportation, and health insurance. In the Vocational Education Program, students have an equal opportunity to take part in the selection, where in 2023, 25 of the 44 awardees who received scholarships were women. This illustrates the availability of a scheme for women.
